Native Trails, Modern Sinks

Native Trails, you surprised me today. I saw your name, that you make "artisan crafted copper sinks" and thought, "Great, another glut of hammered sinks for that tired preppy Connecticut farmhouse look or worse, the sophisticated country strain that's going around."

I spoke too soon.

The sinks are modern, well formed, thoughtfully proportioned and high quality.

A peek...

The new designs come in a new finish - brushed nickel over copper. It imparts a modern look ready to mix with stainless steel, and carries the quality and durability of copper.
