

Having just enjoyed a successful release this year, these recycled copper sinks from Native Trails have predicted the trends. Hot for 2010 is anything eco-conscious, putting this new contemporary sink range on the must-have lists of trend-seekers and trend-setters alike. The eco collection includes a variety of sink styles in different shapes and dimensions, all made of recycled copper and proving that one man's trash is another man's treasure. These amazing sinks are available in bronze antique and brushed nickel finishes, adding a country-chic element to your kitchen or bathroom, and they come in a variety of sizes to suit every space. Check out these new contemporary sinks at Native Trails.
